

Tomato Variety Recommendations for 2010/2011

Beefsteak

72-614 RZ

Long open plant with really strong consistent setting. Medium high vigour and suitable for grafting with a strong rootstock such as Bruce or Emperor RZ. Smooth round, deep fruit, 230 grams average.

72-615 RZ

Average length plant with a shorter leaf. High vigour and suitable for grafting with a strong rootstock such as Bruce or Emperor RZ. Smooth round, deep fruit, 240 grams average.

Large TOV's

Endeavour RZ

A cluster tomato variety with a generative nature and strong vigour. Comparing to other RZ varieties the fruits are more deep round with 150g avg weight. The plant stays open with slightly upright leaves and a strong growing tip. Endeavour does not need a lot of special climate regimes to remain in balance and reach its high production. When cool nights are not possible and humidity deficits are small, the flowers still set well. The early production is good and the overall production is very high.

The standard rootstock, Bruce RZ and Emperor RZ are all good rootstock choices.

72-489 RZ

Trials only for 2011. This variety has huge production and size potential (160+g avg), however fruit quality is still a question mark. Worth a look. Graft with Emperor or Bruce RZ.

Specialties

Delicioso RZ

A cocktail tomato with nice quality fruit with good flavor. Fruit weight is 36g avg, with production higher than Amoroso RZ (26.67 in week 32). Graft with Stallone RZ.

Pareso RZ

A mini plum variety (15g) with exceptional flavor and a beautiful presentation. Harvest loose for higher kg's or as a truss. 15g avg fruit size, 22.42kg week 32 and brix of 7.5 to 8.8. Graft with Stallone RZ

Tastery RZ

A truss harvest cherry which will last the season. Nice flavor and fruit quality with a plant strong against yellow stems. 22kg in week 32, brix 7.2-7.8. Graft with Stallone RZ.

Sassari RZ

A loose harvest cherry with high kg's. Good flavor and fruit quality on a generative plant. 14g avg fruit size with brix of 7 to 8.5 and 27.88kg in week 32. Graft with Stallone RZ

TerraLink
Rooted in your community.

Bradley Breedveld
604-841-6669
brad@tlhort.com